Lines Of Business cheat sheet

Consumable Products – Topical and ingestible products intended for human use and/or human consumption. Target risks are finished food products manufacturers, importers, distributors and/or co-packers packaging for a third party brand. Excluded classes include ingredients, bulk commodities, pet food, and pharmaceuticals.

Component Parts – All components with the exception of chemical risks. Target classes include automotive components, aerospace components, electronic components, and medical device and instrument components.

Consumer Goods – Finished Products sold at a wholesale / retail level. Excluded classes include infant carrying devices and related products.

Our main focus is on accounts with sales of up to $250M but we can look at any account size. No risk is too small or too big! Along with this, we have the capabilities to provide customizable and tailored policies, either for the entire company or a specific contract/product line. We also have the ability to customize the coverages offered to better suit the client's needs.
